Document notice: This policy is fictional and was created for retrieval-augmented generation testing. It is not legal, tax, medical, or employment advice.

1. Purpose and Scope

This policy covers travel approval, booking, transportation, lodging, meals, safety, personal travel extensions, and expense reporting. It does not authorize remote work from a travel destination.

This policy applies across company offices and approved remote locations unless a local addendum or controlling law provides a different rule. Employees should use the current policy version and ask the listed owner when facts do not fit the standard case.

2. Summary of Key Rules

Category	Standard	Exception approval
Air travel	Economy for flights under 6 hours	Vice president
Hotel	Preferred property within local cap	Cost-center owner
Meals	Actual cost within $75 daily cap	Finance
Ground transport	Lowest practical safe option	Manager

3. Approval and Booking

Overnight or air travel requires written manager approval before booking. International travel also requires Corporate Security review. Employees should use the approved booking channel so negotiated rates and duty-of-care tracking apply. Travel booked before approval may become the employee's responsibility if the trip is canceled or denied.

4. Transportation and Lodging

Economy airfare is required for flights under six hours. Premium economy may be approved for longer flights; business class requires vice-president approval and a documented business or accessibility reason. Lodging should be safe, reasonably close to the business location, and within the published city cap. Room upgrades and minibar charges are personal unless justified by an emergency.

5. Meals, Personal Time, and Companions

Meal reimbursement is limited to actual reasonable cost up to the daily cap and requires itemized receipts where available. Costs for a spouse, companion, or personal sightseeing are not reimbursable. A personal extension is permitted when preapproved and when the employee pays incremental costs. Work performed from the destination still requires remote-work and tax review.

6. Safety and Disruption

Employees should follow security advisories and maintain current emergency contact details. The company may suspend travel because of health, weather, or security risk. Reasonable costs caused by a documented disruption are reimbursable. Employees needing an accessibility adjustment should contact People Operations before booking when practicable.

7. Exceptions, Records, and Questions

Exceptions must be lawful, documented, limited in duration, and approved by the policy owner plus any other owner named in the relevant section. Approval for one case does not change the policy for other employees. Records are retained according to the company retention schedule and any legal hold.
