Document notice: This policy is fictional and was created for retrieval-augmented generation testing. It is not legal, tax, medical, or employment advice.

1. Purpose and Scope

This policy coordinates notice, knowledge transfer, access removal, property return, final expenses, final pay, benefits information, and records preservation when employment or a contract ends.

This policy applies across company offices and approved remote locations unless a local addendum or controlling law provides a different rule. Employees should use the current policy version and ask the listed owner when facts do not fit the standard case.

2. Summary of Key Rules

Action	Owner	Normal timing
Submit departure record	Manager or HR	Immediately after confirmation
Disable standard access	IT	At end of last working day
Disable high-risk access	IT and Security	Earlier when risk requires
Return equipment	Employee and manager	By last working day or agreed shipment date
Submit final expenses	Employee	Within 10 calendar days after separation

3. Manager and Employee Responsibilities

The manager confirms the last working day, work location, transition plan, open approvals, and company property. The employee returns records to approved systems, transfers business contacts and work in progress, and does not delete records subject to retention. Personal files should be removed only when lawful and without removing company information.

4. Access and Data

IT removes standard access at the end of the last working day unless People Operations or Security directs an earlier time. Privileged, financial, customer, or high-risk access may be removed earlier. Departing workers must not forward company information to personal accounts. Company devices are wiped only by IT after legal-hold and records requirements are checked.

5. Property and Expenses

Laptops, phones, badges, tokens, payment cards, documents, and other property must be returned by the last working day or an approved shipment date. The company provides reasonable shipping instructions for remote workers. Final business expenses should be submitted within ten calendar days after separation. Missing property and expense reimbursement are handled under applicable law and are not automatically netted from pay.

6. Final Pay and Benefits

Final pay timing follows local law and the Payroll Calendar and Cutoffs Policy. Payroll addresses outstanding salary, approved overtime, and lawful deductions. People Operations provides information about benefit end dates, continuation options, retirement accounts, and any eligible accrued-leave payout. The manager must not promise a specific payout without confirmation.

7. Exceptions, Records, and Questions

Exceptions must be lawful, documented, limited in duration, and approved by the policy owner plus any other owner named in the relevant section. Approval for one case does not change the policy for other employees. Records are retained according to the company retention schedule and any legal hold.
